

A Long Meditation on Irala
By Shomit Sirohi

Introduction a Short Parable

Irala was afraid of the world – she didn't know how to climb onto the balcony like I said to her in her skirt and formal shirt in style and jump.

I. A Jewish Parable

When in a room, what do two people do? Do they speak to each other, Mansier asked Pontenara. Do we express deeper feelings and philosophy or the simple gist of it, do we speak abstractly or concretely, are we political or just about each other?

Mansier left the room, and went down the stairs, a spiral staircase shot in films he thought. He then went to the lobby and left his envelope for Pontenara to refer to after she wakes up. He then locked his briefcase and went off in the road below – from above in the window Pontenara saw him rushing off.

He meant symbolism.

He then went to a store and wooed into a department store. All of this, what a wonder – but are we bookish he said to the store owner who laughed. He isn't and he knows the store very well not to be learnt. He then gave the bread and left, I left I mean.

II. A Jewish Folk Song Parable

In fact music was called healing in the Bible, which also is in the Epistle of Quran. That is all, it is just music – forget modern symptoms. But I was ailing one night and listened to music – what about all these figurative things prior to in fact the real medication which I also was taking every day. I meant imagine the future as not grave and undecipherable but like Aleph – we both shook hands a man named Alejandro and I, we talked about the word Aleph – it something like infinity in Hebrew, but doesn't mean mathematics. Come on man, it must mean that, but is also life – life revealed.

III. Quran Mystics

In fact the whole thing was solved when Mansier met Irfanian, that he solved it as logic – that was in different traditions in fact.

He wrote down ten logics – one was about just living life and living it to the full. Why is that allowed Irfanian joked – it is because you filed a lawsuit and kept it working the structure of the hospital. Not really that, but that as well to keep you gunning. Actually and in fact it is subjectivity's law – that I discovered called psychoanalysis.

IV. What remains between Mansier and Lovers

In fact many women fell in love. I was a poet – I told them a secret – beyond knowing me, know science, believe in it, and free us.
